THE PRESENT TREATY RELATIONS

Between that power and the United States spring from the antagonism which arose between our paramount domestic interests and our previous relations under the treaty, commonly Between that power and the United States spring from the antagonism which arose between our paramount domestic interests and our previous relations under the treaty, commonly known as the Burlingame treaty. This conferred upon the Chinese subjects the right of voluntary immigration to the United States for the purpose of curiosity or trade, or as permanent residents, and was in all respects reciprocal as to citizens of the United States in China. It gave to voluntary immigrants coming to the United States the right to travel there, or to reside there, with all the privileges, immunities or exemptions enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nations. It gave to voluntary immigrants coming to the United States the right to travel there, or to reside there, with all the privileges, immunities or exemptions enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nations. Under the operation of this treaty it was found that the institutions of the United States and its people, and their means of obtaining a livelihood, might be seriously affected by the unrestricted introduction of Chinese labor. Congress attempted to alleviate this condition by legislation, but the Act which it passed proved to be in violation of the treaty obligations, and being returned by the President with his objections, failed to become a law. Diplomatic relief was then sought. A new treaty was concluded with China, without abrogation of the Burlingame treaty. It was agreed to modify it so far that the Government of the United States, or their residence therein, but it was agreed to modify it so far that the Government of the United States, and the united States, or their residence therein, but it was agreed that it should not absolutely prohibit them, and that the limitation or suspension should be reasonable, and should apply only to Chinese who difficulty. THLER ON INDIAN FARMING.

The new Secretary of the Interior gave expression to his views on one point of the Indian question to-day that undicates a modification of Secretary Kirkwood's policy. He was asked what he thought of the allot ment of lands in severalty to Indians, and said: "The allotment in severalty I do not regard as practicable except in cases where the Indians are partly civilized. It is no use to put wild Indians on land parcelled out to thempsecause they will not stay on it if we do.

They do not want a lot of land off by themselves, because they do not want a farm and will not ealize the worth of it. If the Indians are somewhat civilized, so as to know the value of land and what it may be made to produce, and then are broken in to work it, it is might do to tray on it if given them." It is believed the Indians than for some years.

THE TWENTY-YEAR PERIOD.
The examination which I have made of the treaty and of the declaration which its negotiators have left on record of the meaning of its language, leaves no doubt in my mind that neighbor the contracting parties, in concluding the treaty of 1860, contemplated the passage of an Act prohibiting immigration for twenty years, which is nearly a generation, or thought that such a period would be a resonable suspension, or intended to change the provisions of the Burling agment treaty to that extent. I regard this provision of the Act as a breach of our national faith, and being unable to bring myself in harmony with the views of Congress on this vital point, the honor of the country constrains me in the treaty of some legislation on this shorter experiment, with a view of the necessity of some legislation on this shorter experiment, with a view of the necessity of some legislation on this shorter experiment, with a view of the necessity of some legislation on this provision of the Act as a breach of the necessity of some legislation on this contractions.

OUR DAIRY INTERESTS.

We have done much in two or three years past to improve the number and quality of our dairies, but we have not ncreased them in any proportion to the demand. We consider at this day and with the market we enjoy that butter-making is the best business a man or company can enter upon Green feed can be procured for about the entire year, and for the brief time that green grass may be short, root crops are always to be had in any required abundance. And the market is simply enormous, and so largely above our supply as to astonish the who are familiar with the facts. The money paid here for butter is equal to country dairies. E. Germain is re-ceiving regularly from up the country fifteen fifty-roll boxes every week. Seymour & Johnson report a little more, and the American cash store about the same. Besides these heav-iest dealers in this commodity, George A. If our contemporary had added the large business of Messrs. Newmark & WE want to impress again upon ou Co., and that of the other wholesal es of Messrs. Hellman, Haas & Co. and Messrs. Woodhead & Gay, a better leavors to produce food crops-every idea of the magnitude of the trade would have been given. It is an old saying that "bread is the staff of life," thing, from poultry, through the dair; products, to "hog and hominy," and back again to potatoes and muttor and beef. They are all wanted in any and it is equally true that butter is its abundance our people can possibly ion, and it being so is in demand at all times by all, the blessed raise them. The market is at our oor as well as the miserable rich. To carry out in its completeness th system of a democratic republican gov ernment all the offices should, so fa icable, be filled by the people But when this system of gover advice:

Upon my return home I have been surprised and somewhat startled to find the interest created by my Calinfornia letters. There is a responsibility involved of which I had not odreamed. The Lord forbid that I is should create dissatisfaction in happy prosperous Illinois homes, or give any bof my neighbors an uncalled-for longing for a change of base. While I boldly proclaim the Los Angeles country a very Eden upon earth, and feel perfectly justified in declaring that its climate, soil, productions, scenery, cities, colonies, schools, churches and societies have mever been over praised, it is only prudent and honorable to declare that other tourists write quite the contrary efform what has appeared in fhese letters. It is really true that people go there to be cruelly disappointed, and to vespeedily-return. On our return trip we had the pleasant society of two families coming back to their former thomes in Kansas, after a three months' sojourn at San Diego and Los Angeles, returning, as they said, "poorer and wiser." This is not uncommon. Many others would from time to time return, but are unable to spread over a vast area of territor with its numerous departments s there must be, in the present condition of political science, many offices the filling of which by election is impracticable, and that of Postmaster appears to be one of them.

In all elections the voters are required to have some qualification to enable them to vote. What shall qualify a person to vote for a Postmaster? Postofflees are not located in conformity with any recognized subdivisions of territory. There may be but one in a county or there may be but one in a county or there may be soore. There may be one in a precinct or there may be none. In the administration of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial branches of the Government, every person is interested; but in that of the Postoffice, the homes in Kansas, after a three months' sojourn at San Diego and Los Angeles, returning, as they said, "poorer and wiser." This is not uncommon. Many others would from time to time return, but are unable to do so; but, after a preliminary and (for poor people) nearly inevitable battle with hard times, they not only become satisfied with their new home, but delighted with it. Without stopping to debate this question at length, I leave it just here with this explicit statement, viz: I have not met a man or woman in California who, having lived there a year or more, would return to the East for a permanent residence for any reasonable money consideration; and I think it would be difficult to find any person who, having lived for a series of years in that State, and for any reason having returned East, does not openly express a desire to go again to California for a permanent home. I am not aware of an exception to this rule. If asked why I make for a series of years in that State, and for any reason having returned East, does not openly express a desire to go again to California for a permanent home. I am not aware of an exception to this rule. If asked why I make a statement of these facts I can only answer, because truth demands it. However, I will now dismiss this theme with the warning to all interested parties thinking of moving in any direction from Illinois, that it is the part of wisdom to "let well enough alone." If you are comfortable and doing well and here office. Should the man who has only received through the postoffice a notice that a note which he had endorsed for a friend has gone to protest, be placed on an equality with one who has through some channel been informed of the death of an old uncle who has bequeathed him half a million of dollars?

Our editorial breath was almost a steady stream of gold. We are cognizant of many facts which if aggregated would surprise our people. Of the amount of business done a trifling insight is given in an article in the April number of the Semi-Tropic California,—which able publication, we will remark, did well in calling public attention to the matter—a portion of which we copy:

An instance of the demand in that direction will be found in the fact that one of our business firms alone, the Grange store, recently shipped to Arizona in a single day 1,400 pounds of butter. Besides this firm, there are many others in Los Angeles making large shipments daily, and in order to meet this demand our dealers are obliged to draw very largely from up-country dairies. E. most thoroughly organized and economical companies in the State.

The business part of the city has greatly improved. Two large brick buildings on the left hand side of buildings on the left hand side of Fourth street have been built, the last of which is about ready for occupancy. Numerous wagon shops, blacksmith shops, grocery stores, drug stores, livery stables, and large truck wagons on the streets are exponents to a healthy growth. Mr. B. F. Seibert's bank has been fitted up in good shape, and we judge from the number who surrounded its counters that he was doing a successful business.

EVERYBODY

At work, teams are busy in every possible direction, the mechanics are all employed, ten or fifteen houses are in course of building in and around Santa Ana. The schools are in a flourishing condition under the principalship of Prof. Hewes, whose faithfulness and efficiency has won for him the high place he holds in the confidence of the people.

Have also kept pace with the rush and success of the other parts of this thriving community. A half hours' walk on Sunday morning convinces us of this fact. The first that was built in Santa Ana was the Methodist Episcopal, South, which was dedicated in October, 1876, by Rev. Bishop Marvin. The present pastor, Rev. E. Dunbar, is highly esteemed and has commanded the respect of all by his manly courage and his strict attention to business.

making many more for the reason that it has taken the righteous side of the Sunday law. The editor is thoroughly humanitarian in his views upon that subject. I was impressed with this fact, that the people are almost a unit in regard to the Sunday law. Every man who maintains himself by honest days' work will vote for this law. The Christian churches are all of the same opinion. It is not hard to see that this will be certain defeat to the party that moves for a RREEPPEEAALL! It is to be hoped that the Republican party will lift up its voice at once in favor of righteousness and humanity and "fire out" all the old soakers. The laboring man demands it who has not navor of rightecusness and humanity and "fire out" all the old soakers. The laboring man demands it who has not drowned every spark of sober thought in his mind. The professional man demands it who has served the public six days, and wants one day with his family to rest and enjoy the quiet of home. The soldier who has stood by the honor of his country's flag, upholding it in the name of God and human freedom, demands it. The temperance people demand it. The Catholic and Protestant churches demand the maintenance of this law respecting the day of rest. Every commercial interest is in favor of it. Every social claim urges it, and every sober vote will be cast in favor of it without regard to party lines or "previous condition of servitude."

NEW FREIGHT RATES.

A TIMES reporter recently called on some of the leading business firms of this city, with the view of ascertaining ecent reduction in freight rates, elicit

The freight rates on certain class the rates charged one year ago, on others one-half, and on the bulk of merormer rates.

Nothing will illustrate the effect of prices of goods to better advantage than by saying that chairs formerly sold for $11.50 per dozen are now selling for $9.75, the nore marked in some class nerchandise. The hardware, furaints, oils and glass trades are thos paints, oils and glass trades are those which as yet have benefitted the most from the change; it is probable, however that the dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps and other lighter departments will experience equally as much benefit shortly. Leading merchants of this city claim most emphatically their ability to cope successfully with San Francisco for the trade of Arizona, especially with the advantage of freight rates to all points in that territory now on their side, moreover, that they can furnish Southern California as far north as Bakersfield and Santa Barbara on an equal footing with San Francisco. This will readily be conceded when the fact is considered that Los Angeles now commands the same rates from Eastern points as San Francisco; instead of being subjected, as heretofore, to rates from San Francisco and Sacramento that were two-thirds of the through rates from East to those points. Los Angeles merchants can compete with Chicago houses also for all the trade in Eastern Arizona, owing to the fact that the through eastern rates to this city, added to the rates from here to points in Eastern Arizona, do not aggregate as much as the through rates from Chicago which as yet have benefitted the most

The Baptist Church is the largest one in the place. Rev. J. H. Parker is the pastor and has been for a number of years. Under his pastoral care the church has been completed and strengthened in every particular. He is in fine health and doing double work.

The United Presbyterian Church in the eastern part of the town was built in 1878. It is nest and commodious, and enjoys the distinction of having the highest steeple of any church in the county. Rev. J. C. Webster, the pastor, has succeeded admirably.

The Methodist Episcopal church was the fourth to be established. After a long series of reverses, Rev. C. W. Tarr, by a truly heroic effort, with but a handful of members, has built a beautiful church, free from debt, and has organized a good Sunday school, with an excellent congregation. By his careful and systematic work, every interest of the church is fully up to the times.

The fifth church was dedicated March 26, 1882. It is a small but neat Gothic structure, about 28x40, but it contains live and energetic members and will be a factor for good in this Something should be done in the premises and that quickly, as the people chafe under the unnecessary delay. Such a physical and moral blot in the midst of our fair city is intolerable and it prevents the development of the finest laid out street for commercial purposes in the city. It is to be hoped that the City Council will take action in the matter without delay.

ANOTHER MURDER CASE.

The People vs. Couch, Charged With the Killing of Smith Crabtree.

In the case of the People vs. Couch, charged with the murder of Smith Crabtree, at the Monte, in January last, Messrs. Stephenson and Del Valle appeared for the defense, and District Attorney Brown for the prosecution. On account of the absence of witnesses on both sides, Judge Sepulveda yesterday concluded to empanel a jury, but not ogo into the testimony until next Monday. On the examination of jurors as to their qualifications, C. Behrendt was excused on account of conscientious scruples against capital punishment, he stainty that he would only be willing to find in favor of the death penalty in a case where he had actually witnessed the murder himself. A. M. Lawrence was excused because he stated that he was a prejudiced against people charged with murder and would convict them if the preponderance of the evidence was against them. There were a great many other jurors challenged for cause and peremptorily, but finally the following were sworn in to try the case:

I. Mesmar, J. O. Lamb, W. F. Poor, John D. James, Sr., A. Borick, George O. Tiffany, S. Stewart, J. E. Tijton, T. H. Bickman, I. Wickersham, W. H. Nadholt and William Thorpe.

The information was read and the defendant plead not guilty. The case was continued till next Monday at 10 A. X.

Upon examination, to his astonishment and horror, he found them to be of a syphilitic character. As the morality of the patients could not be questioned, the origin of the ulcers was shrouded in mystery. Again cases of sore throat and diphtheria would unaccountably break forth in localities which every natural indication designated as being healthy. The habits of the people themselveswere too correct, also to admit of any spontaneous generation. This seemed to be another mystery in the physician's practice, and

He knew that these diseases were contagious, that they were communicative by touch, and in many ways, that public drinking fountains, handshaking, indiscriminate kissing, mixing of clothes and in a thousand incidental ways.

The medical works were full of these examples. A happy thought entered his mind: it might be that the Chinese wash houses were the mediums of spreading this filth and degrading the blood of the Anglo-Saxon race. A slight personal examination satisfied him that this was truly the case.

blood of the Anglo-Saxon race. A slight personal examination satisfied him that this was truly the case.

The cold facts are these: the clothing of all the patrons of a wash house, after being tagged, is separated into a batch for each washing. The second and third batches go into the same unchanged water used for the first batch, which accounts for the "orful" smell more or less the clothes have every time they are returned. This indiscriminate mixing of clothes in the wash water naturally mixes the filth of one piece with another. If clothes contain venerael or other contagious matter, this is real or other contagious matter, this nixed around, and in fact little else

Surely it remonthly meetings in the interest of that cause. The fact is, Santa Ana has a grand people who mean to stand by what is right.

Real estate has gone up about 155 per cent during the past year, and is still going up. It is difficult to decide in which direction the town is building up the more rapidly. Those who live on the north say that part is growing more rapidly, and those on the east claim the same distinction, while those on the west claim it for their part. Many houses are being built on all sides and the place is growing in all directions.

The Santa Ana Herald is the leading paper and has many friends, and is making many more for the reason that it has taken the righteous side of the ing horrid ulcers and putrid sores.
